AN OLD BALL AND A NEW, FOR THE WASHINGTON CENTENNIAL.

FURTHER ARRANGEMENTS MADE-TRACING AN INTERESTING RELATIONSHIP. A meeting of the Plan and Scope Committee of the Washington Inaugural Centennial Celebration was held at the Stewart Building yesterday. There were present Mayor Hewitt, chairman; Mayor elect Grant, James M. Varnum, Cornelius N. Bliss, Frederick S. Talimadge and Samuel D. Babcock, members of the committee, with Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry, charman and Clarence W. Bowen, secretary, of the Executive Committee; William G. Hamilton, charman; and James M. Montgomery, secretary, of the Committee on States; and Stuyvesant Fish, chairman, and Ward McAllister, secretary, of the Committee on Entertainment. Russell Harrison, son of the President-elect, was present during the session and was introduced by Secretary Bowen to all the committeemen. In pre-senting Mr. Harrison to Commodore Gerrs, Mr. Bowen introduced them as cousins, to the surprise of both. The relationship was soon explained, however, by Mr. Bowen, who had traced it out previously. Mr. Gerry's ancestor, Charles Thompson, who was the messenger delegated by Congress on April 6, 1789, to carry to General Washington the official information of his election as President of the United States, married a sister of Benjamin Harrison, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and father of William Henry Harrison. Elbridge Gerry, Vee-President of and General Harrison, President-elect, and Commodore Gerry are cousins of the third degree. Rassell Harrison took great interest in the proceedings yesterday and expressed to the committee his father's appreciation of the importance of the com-ing celebration. On Mr. Gerry's report the following axiditions were made to the General Committee: August Belmont, Johnston Livingston, Adrian Iselin, John W. Hamersley, Allan Arthur, Travis Coles Van Buren, Gardner Sherman, F. Augustus Schermerhorn, Frank R. Lawrence, Washington E. Connor, Colonel E. M. L. Ehlers and James M. McLean. Brovel-Lleutenant-Colonel Floyd Clarkson, U. S. V., Second Lieutenant Loyali Farragut, Brevet-Major-General Alexander S. Webb, Colonel Louis P. Di Cesnola, U. S. V., and General John Cochrane were appointed a mittee to represent the Military Order of the United States, married a daughter of Charles Thompson. President William Henry Harrison and

Vice-President Gerry's w fe were therefore first cousins, the Loyal Legion. A letter from Governor Foraker, of Ohio, was read, in which he expressed his earnest desire for the suc-State Legislature, which convenes in January, would

State Legislature, which convenes in January, would see that Ohio was represented in the military display if decired. Stuyvesant Flah, chairman of the Committee on Entertainment, presented a report of the elaborate arrangements made for the ball and dinner and the invitat ons to be given.

The chef for the ball and banquet will be Eugens Le Perique, of the Hoffman House. At the ball in 1789, given after the Inauguration of Washington, there were 300 people present. This ball took place in the old City Hotel, where the Borrel Building now stands. A fan was given as a present to each lady at the ball. At the ball to be given in the Metropolitan Opera House on April 20 there will be 7,000 people present, embracing every class of society, and it is proposed by the Committee on Entertainment to give a present, as a souvenir to every lady attending the ball.

FIGHTING A WOMAN'S WILL.

NEPHEW AND NIECE CONTESTING THE CASE IT IS ASSERTED THAT THE WIDOW OF HIBAM CRANSTON LACKED TESTAMENTARY CAPACITY.

A contest which has been begun in Surrogate Ran-som's Court over the will of Mrs. Augusta Yale Cran-ston, the widow of Hiram Cranston, who was for many years proprietor of the New-York Hotel, promises some interesting developments. The contestants are Mrs. Virginia Gale Plumb, of Meriden, Conn., and James Neal Plumb, of No. 13 West Sixtieth-st., the nicce and nephew of the testatrix, who allege that Mrs. Cranston lacked testamentary capacity at the time of the execution of the will on February 27, 1885. Her estate is valued at $100,000. The first hearing in the case took place yesterday before Edward F. Underhill, assistant to the Surrogate.

The subscribing witnesses of the will testified that it was duly executed by Mrs. Cranston and that she was of sound mind and memory. Mr. Plumb is the man whose daughters recently charged him with havman whose adjusted the estate left to them by their mother. Mrs. Cranston, before her marriage, was knewn as Miss Augusta Yale, a sister of Henry C. Yale, and great-great-granddaughter of the founder of Yale College. She married Mr. Cranston nearly forty years ago, soon after he became proprietor of the hetel. He soon became a wealthy man and was well known in New-York society. He was a pro-nounced secessionist during the war. His wife lived happily with him at the hotel for many years until she discovered that he was supporting a woman in luxury in an elegantly furnished house in Fifth-ave., by whom he had several children, whom he sent to Europe to be educated.

Mrs. Cranston then refused to live longer with her husband, and finally papers were drawn up by which they agreed to live apart, and nearly $100,000 was settled upon the injured wife. His estate at that time was valued at nearly half a million dollars. He afterward became acquainted with a Miss Agnell, whose father was a professor in the West Point Military Academy, and in order to marry her he went to Indiana and obtained a divorce on the alle-gation that his wife had described him. He married the young woman soon after. Afterward it was charged that he had improper relations with other women.

He gave up the hotel business at one time and speculated in Wall Street. After he had lost $450,000 and had become a comparatively poor man, he took the management of the Victoria Hotel. Subsequently he again took charge of the New-York Hotel and retained it until the time of his death,

Hotel and retained it until the time of his death, about lifteen years ago.

While he lived there his second wife lived in Paris, and it is said that when she returned and called at the hotel she was not permitted to see him. After her troubles with Mr. Cranston his first wife became subject to fits of melancholy, and finally her mind became affected and she was taken to Middletown, Conn., in 1872, and placed in charge of a physician. After remaining there two years she returned to this city. She died in May last. By her will she appointed her brother soie executor and made bequests to relatives, but did not mention the contestants.

MR. HEWITT MEETS WITH OPPOSITION.

THE BOARD OF ESTIMATE MUST COMPLETE THE

BUDGET BEFORE JANUARY 1. Board of Estimate hurried forward its work upon the budget of 1889 yesterday. The law requires its completion by midnight of December 31. Mayor Hewitt made his first fight yesterday on a request of Deputy County Clerk Gilroy to transfer $1,000 from the salary fund of the Register to pay the expenses of the County Canvassers, the $2,000 already allowed being declared insufficient. Mr. Gilroy said the canvass of the votes this year was the most expensive and difficult which had ever occurred. Mr. Hewitt insisted that $250 additional was ample, but Messre. Myers, Coleman and Dowling overruled h m and voted the extra $1,000. A further sum of $4,200 was allowed the County Clerk for printing the Constitutional amendment ballots.

When the Charities and Correction Department estimates were taken up the Mayor came into collision with some of the other members of the Board, par-President Coleman, who urged greater economy in making the allowances for salaries and penses for the insane in the care of the Depart-Mr. Hewitt championed the requests of Commissioners Brennan and Porter for greater allowances. He was so successful that the Department's estimates so far as completed underwent little change. An rease of salaries over last year was allowed, pass ing at $557,000 as against $500,000 for 1888. The estimates footed up $591,382. For the erection of a pavilion to relieve the overcrowded almshouses $35,000 was allowed. The Commissioners wanted twice as much, so as to build two pavilions, one for males and another for females. Commissioner Coleman thought that there was no need of any pavilion, but a compromise was effected and one was allowed, the Commissioners to be the judge of which sex needed the relief most. Only $25,000 of the $250,000 asked for to complete the buildings at Central Islip was for to complete the buildings at Central Isilp was allowed. It was agreed that the Legislature should be applied to for anthority to issue bonds to carry on the experiments and complete the work there, which may run up into an expense of several millions. So far the allowances for next year to the Department of Charities and Correction amount to $2,207,550, leaving $475,000 yet to be appropriated if the Commissioners' estimates are finally voted. In any event it is certain largely to exceed last year's allowances. The Board will go at it again to-morrow at 11:30 a. m.

DEATH OF RICHARD W. HUBBARD. The death of Richard W. Hubbard, age seventythree, the well-known landscape painter, at his home, three, the well-known landscape painter, at his home, No. 121 St. James Place, Brooklyn, was announced yesterday. Mr. Hubbard became a member of the National Academy in 1858, and for several years was president of the Brooklyn Art Association. He came of an old Connecticut family, and was related to the famous Governor Hubbard, of that State. Mr. Hubbard was a landscape painter, and his principal work as an artist was accomplished some years ago, when American artists were just beginning to obtain a secure foothold in public esteem. Kensett, the Giffords, Eastman Johnson, Arthur Quartiey, W. T. Richards, Winslow Homer, Oertel and other artists, whose technical education was mostly obtained at home, were his contemporaries. His landscapes were almost ontirely taken from American scenery, and the Catskills, Lake George and the Hudson River were the grounds he traversed the oftenest in his sketching tours.

HOME NEWS.

NEW-YORK CITY. Professor G. A. Scribner delivered a second lecture in French, at Columbia College, yesterday morning. The lecture was well attended and seemed to be appreciated as it deserved. The City Hall flags were displayed yesterday by the Mayor's order, in honor of Forefathers Day.

The annual meeting of the Produce Exchange Building and Loan Association will be held at the Exchange on January 14, at 8 p. m.

The Tribune has received "A Thanksgiving offering from Lakewood, N. J.," of $15 32, for the Yellow Fever Sufferers' Fund. A delegation of students from Princeton College will address the young men's meeting, in Association Hafl, at Twenty-third-st. and Fourth-ave., this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The speakers will be M. Graham, '89; G. Sproul, '89; H. W. Hathaway, '90; and W. C. Fisk, '90. M. Vassili Verestchagin's paintings were to be taken down at the end of this week and shipped to Chicago, but there have been such throngs to see them that the collection will probably be kept on view one more week. M. Verestchagin will proably lecture once more before leaving New-York. During these holiday times 300 children on an average visit the Eden Musee each afternoon, and each little one receives a present of a handsome Christmas gift. The distribution will continue until Christmas afternoon. The Sunday programme is always a pleasing one at this popular house, and today's entertainment is of more than usual excellence.

The Christmas Day bill will also be a gala one. This week has been selected for a conference of the two committees representing the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Church, which will meet at the Mission rooms, No. 53 Fifth-ave., and the Presbyterian Union has appointed a general reception for these delegates at the Metropolitan Opera House, on Friday evening.

Daniel A. Rudd, Editor of "The Catholic Tribune," of Cincinnati, will address a meeting of colored Catholics to-night at St, Benedict's Church, Bleecker and Downing sts.

As Mrs. Lena Crane, of No. 239 West Sixteenth-st., was leaning over a fire yesterday, her clothes took fire and she was instantly covered with running tongues of flames. Several people who were in the house heard her cries for help and smothered the flames, but not until the woman had been severely burned. She was taken to the New-York Hospital.

The parishioners of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Church who have remained stanch friends of Dr. McGlynn assembled in International Hall, in East Twenty-seventh-st., on Friday night, and before the close of the meeting over $800 was raised, which will be presented to their old priest to-night.

The Fire Commissioners were informed by the Civil Service Examiners yesterday, that Foreman John H. Kehoe, of Truck 6, had received the highest per cent in the competitive examination for promotion to chief of battalion. Foreman Kehoe was thereupon made chief of battellon, and was assigned to the Fourth Battalion.

The total of the first three days' subscription sale of seats for the Thomas orchestral concerts has exceeded $3,600. The sale continues throughout this week. The first evening's concert is set down for January 5. Mme. Fursch-Madi will be the singer. A concert will be given this afternoon and evening for working girls, at Cartier's Dancing Academy, No. 80 Fifth-ave. Charles A. Silliman, the newly appointed Commisoner of Public Docks, presented himself at the Mayor's office yesterday to take the office, but as it was after 12 m., and the legal half-holiday had begun. Mayor Hewitt decided to defer the ceremony until Monday.

TO SUE CHAMBEELAIN IVINS AGAIN. Leicester Holme, attorney for Mrs. Madge Stone, whose suit against City Chamberlain William M. Ivins to recover $2,000 placed in his hands for investment ulted in a disagreement of the jury, appeared yesterday before sudge Truax, and asked leave to amend the complaint so as to leave out the count alleging fraud on the part of Mr. Ivins. Mr. Holme says in his affidavit that he is satisfied from the testimony taken on the trial that the action cannot be maintained on the count alleging fraud; that he intended to rely upon the count alleging a rescission of the contract, and was taken by surprise by the ruling of Chief Justice Sedgwick, who tried the case, refusing to allow the jury to consider any other question than whether the defendant had been guilty of a fraud upon the plaintiff. The jury stood eight for the plaintiff and four for the derendant. The motion was allowed on payment of costs and trial fee. The case is down for a retrial which will probably take place this week on the amended complaint.

WHERE TO BUY AN EXCELLENT PIANO. The piane is the most prominent piece of furniture in nearly every home, and, indeed, the furnishing of the house is generally considered incomplete without this most destrable instrument. And as planes make presents suitable for most occasions, it is well to know where the wants of the people may be supplied. Francis Bacon first engaged in the manufacture of planes in 1851, and since then has paid such careful attention to the business and made so many improvements in the product of his factory that he now justly claims to furnish instruments unsurpassed in tone and workmanship. At the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia the "Paragen" plane manufactured by Mr. Bacon was awarded the highest medal and diploma for strength, evenness of tone, pleasant touch and smooth finish. In his factory at Nos. 19 and 21 West Twenty-second-st. Mr. Bacon employs a large force of skilled workmen of much experience, and in his warerooms in the same build-ing visiters will always find a complete stock of fine infrom an artistic point of view. They come in chomized or resewood cases, handsomely carved, and sell for $550. A parlor concert grand plane, resewood case, with two handsome mouldings on the body of the case, bevelled top, richly carved legs and lyre, size six feet nine inches by four feet seven inches, an especially attractive instrument, can be purchased at this establishment for $1,200. These are only two of the many slyles manufactured by Francis Bacon. All are beautiful instruments in every point These pianos are warranted for five years,
